

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

THIRTIETH CONGRESS—FIRST SESSION.

SENATE.

TUESDAY, MARCH 30.

Mr. Chase said his name had been on the journal on the vote upon laying on the table the petition praying the extension of the admission of Texas to the Union, and he considered the distribution of the public lands for education and internal improvement; and for that purpose, he said, he should give his support to the bill.

By the time Mr. Fowler's hour had expired, that for adjournment (it being near 5 o'clock) had arrived, when the Committee rose, and the House adjourned.

THURSDAY, APRIL 1.

Some discussion took place on Eastern and Western interests, on the introduction of measures bills granting lands for railroad purposes.

Pending this debate, the House resolved itself into Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union, and resumed the consideration of the Homestead Bill.

Mr. Porter, of Missouri, took the floor, and spent an hour in defending the bill, and in pleading for internal improvements. It was intended to benefit the people by this bill, lands were to be sold to the poor, and the settlers on the public lands might have the means of communication with the markets and the friends.

Mr. Cleveland, of Connecticut, followed in an hour's speech in favor of the bill, and in review of the slavery question.

Mr. Dabney, of Virginia, took the floor; when the Committee rose.

Mr. Nabors, of Mississippi, made a personal attack on the bill, and in the remarks made by his colleague, Mr. Brown.

The House then adjourned.

WEST BLOOMFIELD, ONTARIO, CAN., March 23, 1852.

To the Editor of the National Era.

Enclosed I send you an Obituary of the late Hon. John Dickinson, who died on February 22nd. Mr. Dickinson was a Member of Congress from 1832 to 1836, and made the first important Anti-Slavery speech ever uttered in Congress.

He retained his hostility to the system to the last, and forsook his party in 1848, to forward the cause of the oppressed.

He was a member of the House of Representatives, and a member of the Committee of Five Hundred, who matured the business of the Buffalo Convention.

OBITUARY OF THE HON. JOHN DICKINSON.

When the wise and virtuous are called to die, it is the duty of the living to pause and heart; for to commemorate their virtues is to perpetuate them, and to make earth the desert of the dead.
